OC1 – the new skin-friendly finish from Klopman

As the first polyester cotton fabric manufacturer to be awarded EU Eco-label accreditation – specifically designed to encourage the production and consumption of goods and services that respect the environment – and one of the first European textile manufacturers to become eligible to display the prestigious Öko-Tex Standard 100 'Confidence in Textile' label for polyester/cotton blends, Klopman International has a long-established history of commitment and dedication to environmentally responsible and sustainable manufacturing.

Klopman's latest introduction is OC1, an innovative new skin-friendly finish, certified to Öko-Tex Class 1 – the highest possible classification, which is only awarded to products suitable for use for babies and small children up to the age of three – and ideal for use in garments worn next to the skin and/or in warm working conditions.

Dermatologically tested and proven to be safe for sensitive skins, OC1 has been specifically designed to provide wearers with additional levels of comfort and confidence, as well as exceptional protection. It is available, on request, on a wide range of Klopman workwear and protectivewear fabrics.
